

LEARN ABOUT YOUR ENGLISH LEVEL

START BY INTRODUCING YOURSELF

(no limits here, just tell about yourself as clearly as possible)

LET'S EVALUATE

So how well did you think you do? We can use the following metrics to see how good was the presentation, and by extend, your english level!

01 - DETAILS

02 - FLUENCY

03 - TONES

01 - DETAILS

How much details did you include in your introductions?
How much do you assume the listeners know about yourself after the introduction?

02 - FLUENCY

Did you include a lot of “Erm...” or pauses during your presentation?

03 - TONES

Did your speaking pitch oscillate a lot during the speech? or was it the same all the time?

EXAMPLES

Try read these examples. Do you know which one mostly represent the way you speak?

"Hello. My name is Mei, and I'm from Taiwan. I live in Taipei with my parents. I like watching movies and eating out with my friends. I also have a cat. Her name is Mimi."

"Hi, I'm Mei, and I'm from Taiwan. I live in Taipei with my family, and I work in a small office downtown. On weekends, I love trying new restaurants or going to the park with my friends. I also enjoy taking photos, especially of my cat, Mimi. She's very playful and always makes me laugh."

"Hi, I'm Mei, and I'm from Taiwan. I live in Taipei, where I work as a marketing specialist. I'm passionate about food and love discovering hidden gems in the city, whether it's a cozy café or a street vendor with amazing dumplings. I also enjoy photography and often spend my weekends exploring different neighborhoods, snapping pictures of quirky buildings or beautiful sunsets. My cat, Mimi, is usually waiting for me at home, ready for her next photoshoot. In my free time, I also enjoy playing board games with friends or unwinding with a good comedy series."

SUMMARY

By now, you probably know which type of speaker you are, by extend your English level. Remember, you can improve by learning more vocabularies, phoenics and reading contents in English. Adapt English in your daily life and you will improve drastically each day!